

Korean Vegetable Pajeon

Think Korean comfort food. A pajeon is a hearty, vegetable-forward savory pancake that's a staple in many Korean homes. We're making our version with a mix of shredded broccoli, carrots, green beans, and scallions, then serving it with a sesame-miso dipping sauce. It's crispy and crunchy and totally delicious!

1. Assemble the Salad

Pat dry the Green Beans. Put half the Green Beans into a large mixing bowl and add two-thirds of the Veggie Slaw and all of the Ginger Dressing (the liquid that does not contain sesame seeds). Toss well and refrigerate until step 3.

Drying the vegetables is key to helping the pancakes hold together.

2. Make the Pancakes

Heat 4 Tbsp olive oil in a large skillet over medium high heat.

Crack 2 egg into a small bowl, whisk and set aside. Pat dry the Green Onions.

Combine the Pancake Mix with 2/3 cups of water in a second large mixing bowl. Whisk until there are no lumps.

When the oil is very hot, add the Green Onions and remaining green beans. Cook, undisturbed, until charred, about one minute. Pour ¼ the pancake batter on top of the veggies and reduce the heat to medium. Spread the remaining Veggie Slaw on top of the batter forming a top layer (don't mix it in). Pour the remaining pancake batter on top of the Veggie Slaw layer.

Make sure the pancaked quarters are completely separated from each other. Also try using two spatulas to secure the top and bottom of the pancake quarters when flipping over.

Let the pancake cook until the bottom is brown and starts to crisp, about 3 to 4 minutes. Pour the whisked egg on top of the pancake, covering as much of the top surface as possible. Cook until the egg starts to set, about 3 additional minutes.

Use a large spatula to cut the pancake in quarters and flip each quarter over. Cook until the bottom is dark brown and well crisped, about 3 to 4 minutes more.

Don't worry if it falls apart, it will still taste yummy!

3. Put It All Together

Serve the pancakes alongside the salad and drizzle with the Sesame Miso Dressing (the liquid that has sesame seeds in it) or use it as a dipping sauce. Enjoy!
